In 1971 the Chandler Cemetery in Stanbridge East, Province of Quebec, Canada was spruced up by the cemetery committee. They used crowbars and a clam shell to unearth many of the stones which were then fixed into a wall as pictured here. Since this picture was taken a cap was put over it as a shield.

Chandler Cemetery information was printed in vol. 2, no. 2 on page 38. Both picture and information was sent in by Mrs. Bea Fuller Baumback, 16227 Avenue 17½, Madera, Calif. 93637.
FALLING LEAVES:
The Grange Hall at South Woodstock was the scene of the Spring Meeting May 19 where nearly 100 members were on hand to attend to business matters, listen to 5 excellent speakers and enjoy a fabulous luncheon.

President Leon Dean spoke of the increasing costs of printing "Branches and Twigs" and the necessity of raising our dues. He made the following resolutions which were voted for by the members present:

- Be it hereby resolved that the treasurer be empowered to collect from members as of Oct. 1, 1973, the sum of $2.00 in dues and $2.00 as a special assessment to help defray the organization's expenses for the fiscal year 1973-74;
- And be it further resolved that at the earliest opportunity consistent with our constitution we consider a vote to raise our regular dues from $2.00 to $4.00 annually beginning with the fiscal year 1974-75.

Mr. Dean also asked members to send in material to the editor for publication in our newsletter. If you don't send it, we can't print it. Several members volunteered to check their local libraries for listings of genealogical material.

Joann Heselton suggested that we dedicate the days Permanent Fund collection to Abby Hemmingway who wrote the Vermont Historical Gazetteer in 5 vols.

The Vt. Old Cemetery Association wants to pinpoint and map all cemeteries in Vermont ESPECIALLY the old ones, even if there is just one stone.

Anyone wishing to help VOCA with this project may contact Russell Farnsworth, 35 Alfred St., Burlington Vt. 05401.

Mrs. Witham brought greetings from the Central Florida Genealogical Soc. which meets in Orlando, Fl. They are planning a winter workshop when many New Englanders are there.

First speaker was Madeleine Wilkinson of Montpeller, Vt. Several members requested a copy of her talk which is reprinted here for the pleasure of all our members.

GENEALOGICAL THIS AND THAT, including some Do's and Don'ts.

How many of you realize that Montpella, Vt. is an excellent center for research not only on the entire state of Vt., but also on all of N. England? And, to a certain extent, on New York State?

Last fall Mrs. Swan advised that you start with yourself. I heartily concur with this-in short, work the known back to the unknown. This is particularly important when searching for a birth prior to the period of recording births etc. in a given state. For example, both my grandfathers were born, one in N.J. and the other in N.Y., before those states required births be recorded. But the death records gave names of their parents, as did one of the marriage records. Thus, an example of tracing back from the more modern record.

Once you have noted all that you know personally, ask your relatives, but do NOT overwhelm them with the request, "Tell me all you know about our ancestors." Ask specific questions such as, where and when was so-and-so married? Where buried? (This could well be at some distance from where he or she resided as an adult) Names of his or her brothers or sister? (Data on collateral lines is sometimes helpful if your direct line ancestor died in the period of death records merely stating that John Doe died on such and such a date. Perhaps you or a relative know that a brother or sister lived much longer, and thus might have a more modern death record giving data on parents.)

Do work back one generation at a time. More than once I have seen statements "I have my line back to William the Conqueror except for 3 or 2 or even l generations in Vermont." Watch out! Those missing links could lead in quite a different direction from one to the Battle of Hastings.

Charts are fine as worksheets, or brief summaries, but do NOT put data directly from the source onto a chart. Copy the material as you find it, whether in Vital Records, Census, printed book or other source. Then study your findings, and once you are certain you are on the right track, use a chart if you wish. (Notice that some charts do not have a space for the place of marriage.) This information could be a very important clue to the parentage of both bride and groom, for usually the marriage occurred at the place where the bride resided with her parents. True, there are exceptions sometimes the groom had migrated and once he was settled, sent for his bride-to-be, and they were married in a place far removed from the residence of her parents.

Another reason for copying data as you find it is that later research of yours may change your first findings. One person read a Census of 1860 with a man and woman in a given household as husband and wife; put the information on a chart thusly, and with the approximate year of birth, BUT those same 2 persons were on the 1890 Census (which is the only one asking for the relationship of each person to the Head of Household) as brother and sister. In short, don't stop with just one reference-search for all you can find.

Remember there are several reference books (Noel Stevenson's book, and The Handy Book for Genealogists) giving helpful information on where certain records are to be found, and what are the basic sources for given states. Do study these and make sure that you write to the proper place for data which exists for the period of interest to you. Many persons are accustomed to vital records in their own states being kept at the county or probate offices, and assume erroneously that all states did the same. Then begins the letter writing to the wrong official. Once this official has received many inquiries incorrectly addressed to his office, requesting records which his office never did have, do you wonder that sometimes a reply is sent stating "Records were not kept at all at the time you mentioned."? Yet an inquiry to the correct office would have brought the desired data.

Do not write to more than one place at the same time for the same record (such as a court official, a town official, and a central file), for all your letters are apt to be sent on to just one official, and you are thus tripling his or her work.

When you do write to the proper place for records, make your letter brief and to the point. Some letters requesting a birth date, for example, include so much other family data, that a great deal of time is spent reading page after page just to discover what is wanted. And do be specific: some persons asks for a birth record or other data of John Jones without giving any clue as to whether John is still alive today, or whether he was born soon after the arrival of the Mayflower.

Even the National Archives has become weary of lengthy letters, and provides order forms for pension application copies, and Census entry data.

When you write to any person, institution, or other organization, do not become impatient if a reply is not immediate.
forthcoming. Remember that you are not the only one searching for ancestors, and that many of the persons to whom you address your inquiries have other official duties which understandably take precedence over your request for the birth record about the year 1771 of your ancestor. I recently waited more than one year for certain data which was very necessary for learning a man's origin. The reason was that the files were being microfilmed, and during the completion of that project, all files were closed. In another case I was trying to find an obituary in an out-of-state newspaper. Five to six months does seem frustratingly long, but I waited, and did NOT send any follow-up letters. At last a reply came; while the obituary had not been found, I did learn that all available newspapers of given period had been searched.

The reasons for genealogical research are many and varied; and I repeat, you are not alone in your searching nor in your sending out requests for information. Many persons consider genealogy as ancestor worship, and are quite successful of those successful are excellent scholarships for higher education: many colleges and universities have funds available to students of a particular surname, or who are descended from certain persons, or from early settlers of a certain town. 2) Missing heirs for an Estate in Probate Court: no Will was found, so the legal heirs must be determined. In one such case the relationship of possible heirs to the deceased was based on the descent from a marriage in VT. of 1792. At the time the Estate was in probate, the genealogical research for the deceased was lengthy. 3) Out of State Birth Date - you are again in trouble. (And dare I mention that in L752 eleven days were dropped from the month of September?) 4) Clear title to land: in one instance the problem, which arose only about 10 yrs. ago, concerned descendants of a Revolutionary War soldier who had once owned land on Long Island, NY. The soldier had moved from there to VT. about 1790, but interestingly enough (when one considers migrations of many families during the last 175 yrs) had descendants still residing in VT. They were located, and signed a Quit Claim clear title to land which today is almost suburban NY City. 5) History and sociology: although some individuals think that a sharp division can be drawn between history and genealogy, remember that history is made by people, and people are made by families. There is genealogy to history. New families and their genealogy have been made of the characteristics and occupations of NY ancestors versus those of descendants who migrated to the West many years ago. 6) Medicine and research on some diseases or other physical problems and tendencies often study the family tree to learn more about the disease, and to anticipate possible future health difficulties in later generations. 7) Biographies of prominent persons are apt to look into the family background to learn what caused this man or woman to go to the top. More than once I have found that the young boy placed as an apprentice with a village blacksmith with another person of expert knowledge - that boy invented something which became well known - think of John Deere the plow man, or of the Watrous pump. And there was the grandson of a VT. farmer: the boy was the son of a Methodist circuit-rider minister of early VT. The boy forsook the farm and the ministry to go to the big city. He made it on his own, and became a multi-millionaire long before his death. 8) There are many societies with membership requirements based on descent from a person with proved activities. 9) The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints wants its members to learn their ancestry in all directions because, as I was told by one of its prominent officials, of the belief that the family stays together as a unit unto eternity. 10) Sometimes the interest in the family tree is purely personal: who were my ancestors, where did they live, and what did they do?

There is no set pattern for success in genealogy. The family may have had very good luck on one line by using published genealogies, and little luck on another line by using personal knowledge. Sometimes you find that a land owner was still of his previous residence, when he acquired land in the state of his next residence; for example, the recorded deed shows John Doe being of Manchester, Worcester County, Mass., when he bought land in Vermont. Or perhaps he had already migrated to Iowa when he sold his VT. land, or signed a document giving a VT. resident the power to act on his behalf.

Do study your findings: are the dates logical? Did the mother live long enough to bear the child? Or was she of child bearing age at the date you have for the child's birth? I received an inquiry about the parentage of a person born in 1820, yet stating that the mother's birth might have occurred any time between 1750 and 1850. Printed books or other published material are not always infallible. One book had a 10 yr old boy fathering a child. And one application for membership in a patriotic society had the startling information that a child was born 3 yrs after the death of the father.

If your data is found in a family Bible, compare the date of publication of the Bible with the dates of the entries of birth, etc. Were the entries made as the events took place, or within apparently the personal knowledge of the first or second generation listed? I am sure you see the danger in believing implicitly entries with dates of 200 yrs ago, but written in a bible published in 1950.

Sometimes a Central file of Vital Records does not include the desired data, even though the family was known to have resided in that state for several generations. If the original records are not known to have been destroyed by fire, ask yourself if the family resided in an area such that they might have been members of the Society of Friends, often called Quakers. In early times this religious group seems to have bypassed official town or other recording, but kept excellent church records of births, etc. and of transfers. Many of these Quaker records are available on microfilm in Montpelier. Just as one should study changes in county and town lines, so should one also study the creation of new Quaker groups from a parent group. There is an article describing these groups and the offshoots in the NY Genealogical and Biographical Record for 1974 (also available in Montpelier).

A word of caution about "translating" dates: if you find a birth or other event happening on the 26th day of the month of July, and of such a year, copy it thus. Do NOT write it as the 26th of July, for you may well have walked right into a genealogical trap. There was a calendar change by English laws of 1750 and 1751 which caused the creation of new Quaker groups from a parent group. There is an article describing these groups and the offshoots in the NY Genealogical and Biographical Record for 1974 (also available in Montpelier).
...and of yearly indices of periodicals.

Applications for pensions based on war service are useful, though at times exasperatingly lacking in family data. But other times you find records from early Bibles, or mention of where and when the soldier was born, and of other members of his family. Then you are off and running! The index to Revolutionary War Pension and Bounty Land applications has been published, and is among the holdings of the Vt. Historical Society at Montpelier. A similar index for the War of 1812 is available on microfilm, and is something one should dearly love to have. The cost is about $5.00. I myself don't have that amount to spend, nor do I feel that any one agency or society should spend it to acquire the 102 reels of film. This index would, however, be an excellent addition to the microfilm collection at the Division of Public Records in Montpelier.

Many lists of pensioners have been published, though there is but one that I know of which has been indexed by personal names. These are grouped by states, and in one series, further subdivided by date of the act creating the pension, and still further broken down by county.

Beware of jumping to conclusions without actual proof. You have worked back to John Doe of a particular town in northern Vt. You don't know his origin, but find a John Doe of Duxbury, Plymouth County, Mass., of about the same era. This is very, very good, but let's be ready to say, and to state on your (dare I say the word?) chart. If you had followed up on the man of Duxbury, you would have found him still there on several different Census returns (at the same time the Vt. man was on Vt. returns) and though their ages were about the same, the Duxbury man died and was buried in Duxbury. And the Vermonter was buried here.

Another example of this erroneous conclusion work is a problem which came to me. I was sent data stating that a Brattleboro family could have changed in this direction, it did not follow the normal pattern. So I checked late Census entries for both places - each head of household remained in the respective town, and the statistics for the one family were quite different from those for the other. Further study of land and vital records gave definite proof that the 2 households were not one and the same, and the origin of the family of interest was not the same as that of the one here had previously concluded, without further examination, that the 1790 man of Bennington was the same as the 1800 man of Brattleboro, solely because the name was the same (and it was not John Smith nor Samuel Brown but a more unusual name).

Do keep in mind that occasionally you will come to a dead end. Every known source will be checked without any definite information found. You may have to wait a while in the hope that in some book or periodical will appear the desired data. Meanwhile you might beabbroning your problems or sharpening your skills. It should deeply love to have a Smith Family. The best had already worked on the problem for more than 30 yrs and by use of many records. Nothing had been learned about Mr. Smith's origin. I noticed in the client's data a statement that a brother had come to another Vt. town. Land records of that brother in that town gave his previous residence as Springfield, Mass. The brother's birth and parentage were found, but not my man. There was, however, another brother, the eldest child of about 10, with the same given name. He was born shortly before my man was born. It was quite logical that the parents gave the new baby the same name as that of the deceased son. In addition, the father showed on the 1790 Census of Mass., and also on the 1790 Census of Vt., and in the place of residence of my man. You may think I erred here. You are not correct, for the so-called 1790 Census of Vt. was not taken until 1791. Thus the household could have been listed on the Census returns of both states.

In general, as you work, you will find, as have many before you, that it is like detective work - a clue here, a clue there, a possibility here, a process of elimination there. Every so often, however, you can't see the forest for the trees. Put that family or problem aside for the time being. When you later tackle the quest again, you may find a connection or lead you had previously not noticed.

Good luck to you in your searching, and I hope you enjoy it as much as I do.

Our second speaker was Mrs. Elena Putnam of Saxtons River who spoke of her visit to Salt Lake City, Utah. Mrs. Putnam also has a genealogy course for her church. She told us about the Salt Lake City, Utah Genealogical Library located at 50 N.E. Temple St., which is open to the public and charges $0 fees except for copying. They have over 7 million film group sheets and over 6 million film rolls, which are grouped by states and further subdivided by the state and county. You may consult the index film, which can be obtained from the Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, ifrs. Putnam said the facilities can be used in person, by correspondence or through one of its 80 branch libraries. They are open on Wed. and Thurs. between 10:00 P.M. and 1:00 P.M. and on Sat. 10:00 A.M. until 2:00 P.M. The charge is $10 for the month.

The Boston Branch Genealogical Library is located in Weston, Mass. on Rt 30 and Brown St., and is open on Wed. and Thurs. 7:00 P.M. - 10:00 P.M. and also on Sat 10:00 A.M. until 2:00 P.M. The cost is about $500. The Branch Genealogical Library has been open to the public as well as members of the Church and we urge that you use this research library freely and often.

A family genealogy into print was the title of the talk given by our third speaker, Mrs. Majorie Napoli of St Albans, Vt. Mrs. Napoli has a keen sense of humor and soon had us laughing with her problems of writing a book entitled "The Smith Genealogy". Realizing that there are many ways of numbering or filing genealogies and that if you are using one system and if someone else is using a different system there can be a great deal of confusion, Mrs. Napoli decided to end the confusion by using no system. This worked well for her, as she could easily find any member of the family in her book, however others looking in her book were completely baffled by this non-numbered way of filing. She than resorted to making index cards. Mrs. Napoli's book "The Smith Genealogy" contains indexes and is being printed by Sharp Offset Press in Rutland, Vt. Mrs. Napoli had also a pamphlet entitled How to publish, promote and sell a book which she received from Adams Press, 30 W Washington St, Chicago, Ill. 60602.
Mrs. Dorothy Stillwell of Woodstock, Vt. put in a good many hours of planning and working to provide a meeting place for the Executive Board in April and again a meeting place for our regular Spring meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stillwell were responsible for the excellent luncheon served at the Spring meeting. To top it all off, Mrs. Stillwell was the fourth speaker and gave an outstanding report on a book entitled "Don't cry timber while your family tree comes crashing down." She told us of the National Archives and spoke of the national records, census records, and bounty land records available there. Mrs. Stillwell will be taking a three week course in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. during July and August.

The nature and value of D.A.R. Revolutionary Files was the subject of our fifth speaker, Mrs. Marvel Swan of Crown St., Rutland, Vt. who spoke of the 17 Vermont books assembled by the DAR over the years. The first book was compiled in 1931-1938. The volumes contain Bible, church and cemetery records from 112 towns. There is also a master index of all volumes. Mrs. Swan spoke of the individual volumes and their contents including vols 17-18 mortuary schedules, vols 26-27 concerning the town of Rockingham, Vt., vol 14 has information of Thomas Fortin of Milton, Mass. who had several wives., one volume dealt with Thetford, Vt. Cemetery records.

HEDGING OUT:

The biggest item in our "Hedging Out" column is the fact that this issue is being done by offset printing. From your editors point of view it is being done by Trial and Error or by Living and Learning. The trials and errors are mine, but by living and learning the errors should be fewer in subsequent issues. Setting up material for offset printing is considerably different from the setup we have previously used for mimeograph. Instead of using my old faithful portable typewriter, I should use an electric typewriter with a special carbon ribbon. After planning the format for "Branches & Twigs" I found I had 56 pages of material instead of the 30 pages I wanted for printing. What could I do? I didn't want to leave anything out, but something was going to have to go! I would print only half of the available Bible records, no cemetery records (there weren't many this time anyhow) and maybe we'd be somewhere near 30 pages if our archivist didn't have too many queries. (She had 11 pages, more than ever before). After discussion with our printer, Rev. Brophy, we decided to use a photo reduction process. Now I could type on paper measuring 12 x 18. This would be reduced to our standard 8 1/2 x 11 pages, thus enabling me to print more material per page. For this process I must have an electric typewriter and a carbon ribbon. The first page of this issue is not reduced because of the photo of the Chandler Cemetery. Reduction starts on page 53. After considerable searching I found one typewriter with the necessary carbon ribbon in a neighboring town. However by the end of page 53 it was obvious that the letter y didn't work right and I just couldn't type 30 pages without any. I then attempted to rent an electric typewriter, but none was available in Brattleboro or Bellows Falls, Vt. nor in Walpole or Keene, N.H. Now what could I do? Back again to the printer. Rev. Brophy kindly let me borrow a machine from his office and now "Branches & Twigs" was in business again. You will notice that the type on page 51 is smaller than the previous page, this is due to the change in typewriters. Perhaps by my living longer and learning more future issues will be even better.

Carol Church, editor.

Mrs. Mary P. Woodman of Hendersonville, NC has one idea for some future publication which she thinks worth passing along. A list of the cost of vital records from each state. In "Know your Ancestors" the author did this but inflation has taken its toll in this area also. Upon sending for a copy of my parents marriage certificate in Mass., I learned the price was now $1.00 not 50c. In NY birth and death records (copies) are now $2.00. Etc. in most other states. An up-to-date list would, I think, be very helpful and save time and postage. Perhaps a request of members to send in their states costs in a future issue and the results published could solve the problem. Your editor thinks this is a great idea and wonders if possibly some member already has such a list.

My plea for help with the Index Committee and the Ancestry Service Committee has been answered. Mrs. Vivian Kill of Sharon, Vt. and Mrs. Edith Adolph of Charlestown, N.H. have offered to do the Index. They are currently working on the winter and spring issues. Mrs. Mary Woodman of Hendersonville, N.C. and Mrs. Carol Church of Putney, Vt. make up the ancestry service committee. Two other members have offered their services which will be utilized as our program expands. Do take advantage of this program and send in your surname lists and charts as outlined on the next page.

Any member wishing to be listed in the ancestry service should please follow these directions:

1. On 1 sheet of paper make an alphabetical list of the surnames on your family tree. (Parent, grandparent, etc. DO NOT list their children) Use maiden name for all females.

2. On a 2nd sheet of paper begin with the first surname on the list, starting with the relative closest to you and working backwards in time. Chart name, (spouses name in parentheses), birth place, birth date, marriage place, marriage date, death place, death date, and your query number.

3. Repeat the process for the second surname on your list, the third, the fourth, and etc.

4. All lines, with the exception of members married surnames, will begin with a female name.

5. Members may find it easier to work with just a portion of their list at a time. For example; all the A, B, & C surnames, sending in additional charts later. PLEASE TYPE if possible.

6. Your name, address, and membership number (if known) should be on the bottom of each sheet.

The surname list would not be printed in "B&TI" but would be filed with the ancestry service committee, enabling them to know in advance how many members are working on a given surname, or how many charts will be soon arriving. The chart with the surname worked backwards through time is what will be published, along with other charts of the same surname. Additional charts may be sent in at any time.

As there is at this time, only two people working on this ancestry service, it may become necessary to change the above directions to include your sending in two sets of both charts; one to each of us on the service. In the meantime, send charts and lists as follows:

Members whose last names begin A M send charts to: Mrs Carol Church, Westminster West, P.O. Box 3, Putney, VT 05346

Members whose last names begin N-Z send charts to: Mrs Mary P. Woodman, 402 Comet Drive, Hendersonville, NC 28739

Your editor's surname list and chart (which follows) are examples for you to follow.

SURNAME LIST of member A-157 Mrs Carol Church

The SANDERS (SAUNDERS) family reunion will be held at the Elks grounds in Morrisville, VT, on Sept. 9, 1973. Bring your picnic lunch. Where are all the RAWSONs? Anyone doing ancestor charts and having a RAWSON ancestor should wish to have RAWSON data back into the roots! Most of the Vermont RAWSONs are well aware of Bailey RAWSON. Rawsonville, Vermont is named for Bailey. Each year a RAWSON reunion is held in the one-room schoolhouse in Rawsonville and different Rawsons attend. But isn’t there just one RAWSON who is interested in the family besides the fact that he or she is descended from Edward Rawson, Sec of Mass. Hoy Colony? Through Edward’s wife, Rachel Perne ancestry is traced to King David I of Scotland. Oliver WILKINSON descendants are related through Edward’s sons William. Aaron RYAN descendants are also RAWSONs through another son, Rev. Grindal RAWSON, of Mendon, Mass. who married Hannah WILSON. Other descendants include John REYNOLDS who moved to Stratford, VT.; Grindal REYNOLDS of Putney, VT.; Also Samuel DAVIS and Deborah (CHAPIN) DAVIS of Wardsboro, VT. These are just a few of the RAWSON descendants, a few of them were in the Revolutionary War.

I should like to contact you all so that I may continue my research with hopes of publishing a supplement to the RAWSON family Memorial of 1875 by Ellery B. Crane, Allison Franks, 5231 G Arctic, Rielson AFB, Alaska 99702. (EDITORS NOTE: Mrs Franks has moved. We do not have her new address. Anyone wishing to contact her should write PLEASE FORWARD on their letters.)

Our special thanks to the following members for their personal contributions to the PERMANENT FUND of our society: Mrs Robert E. Chiabrandy, of Burlington, VT.; Mrs Gladys W. Dodge of Santa Ana, Calif. Mr & Mrs Leo Vandalle contributed to the fund in memory of her great-great grandparents John & Joanna (Johnson) Brown of NH and VT. The Vandales are from Bennington, VT. Mr Stanley Moore of Pittsfield, Mass. has contributed in memory of Oliver Pinney who served in the Lexington Alarm in 1775 and was an original settler of town of Randolph, VT; also in memory of Judah Moore Jr. of Wilmington, VT who was Capt. of 5th Co of VT Infantry, 3rd Regt. 2nd Brigade at the Battle of Bennington.

This record was found in the walls of an older home being demolished in Riverside, Calif. I was amazed that the villages named in it bordered on the same areas that I am searching for information on my great-grandparents.

Some towns are not clear and are not shown on present atlas. All writing is individual writing and is not familiar to any of us. If anyone wishes a Xerox copy of any of these, I will be happy to send it to Mrs Gladys W Dodge, 726 S Birch St, Santa Ana, Calif. 92701

My sincere apologies to all for the lateness of this issue of "Branches & Twigs". In addition to the printing problems mentioned on page 56 your editor has had: Three week bout with flu, bee sting (hand swollen so couldn't type), graduation, father's day family reunion at my house, vacation, college preparation, gardening, canning and freezing, haying, two floods in one week in July (the first time we bailed the cellar out by hand!). In addition your editor is supposed to be wife, mother and homemaker. Consequently "Branches & Twigs" is a little late.

Over 100 Genealogical Society letters are on file waiting to be answered. To these many friends and members, I promise to eventually either answer your letter or print the material you sent.

A special thank you to all who have sent material for publication. PLEASE SEND MORE for our next issue. Now through photo reduction, we are able to print nearly twice as much material in the same amount of space. We NEED your notes for the next issue. Send to: Mrs. Carol Church, editor, Westminster West, RFD #1, Putney, VT 05346.

NOTE: queries must be sent to our archivist, Mrs. Florence Lawson, 25 Spruce St., Brattleboro, VT 05301. Queries sent to the editor will not be printed.

REMEMBER: Members may borrow exchange bulletins from the editor for a period of two weeks. Only charge is the cost of postage both ways. Write to me requesting the bulletins you wish to borrow. When you return the bulletins please enclose the amount of the postage I used to send it to you. A list of the bulletins available appears in the Spring issue (vol 2, no 2) on page 40.
